Block Match Day FOR RICHMOND

We have heard of and know of Prune Days, Orange Days, Raisin Days and Olive Days, but Richmond being an industrial center does not produce these articles, but she does produce a BLOCK MATCH. The Home Industry Committee, by permission from the Metropolitan Match Company, announces that on Saturday, July 1st, all purchasers of BLOCK MATCHES will receive ten hundred and twenty-four matches for five cents.

This METROPOLITAN BLOCK MATCH is made at Stege. The BLOCK MATCH is made in conformity with the new Federal laws, causing all matches to be made non-poisonous. On this special Match Day, purchasers of BLOCK MATCHES, which are fully guaranteed, will receive more matches for five cents than at any other time in the history of the BLOCK MATCH industry.

The Home Industry Committee is endeavoring to establish the fact that a small factory as well as a large factory can locate in Richmond and do business, and with the united help of the housewives, the smokers and the public in general who will lay aside five cents or more to purchase these matches, this committee, the Home Industry Committee of Richmond, appointed by the Richmond Chamber of Commerce, can establish the above fact.

So get busy, fellow citizens, and buy METROPOLITAN BLOCK MATCHES on July 1st, 1916. You can certainly use them for our Fourth of July Celebration.

For sale at all grocery stores and cigar stands.

Co. D of Richmond, mustered in last Saturday, has taken from Richmond a number of the most popular young men. The printing fraternity will miss Geo. T. MEXICANS SPRING DEADLY TRAP ON AMERICANS AT CARRIZAL

Wounded Officer Tells of Fight; Troopers of Tenth U. S. Cavalry Fired On as Men Were Advancing in Battle Formation

San Antonio, Tex.—Captain Lewis Sydney Morey, who was believed to be dead of wounds received in the battle at Carrizal, is safe, having reached the main body of American troops with two of his men.

General Funston received a message by telephone Sunday night from Mrs. Morey, who is at Austin, Tex., that she had a wireless message from her husband "somewhere in Mexico" to that effect.

Thirty-eight stragglers from the Carrizal engagements had reached camp at field headquarters in Mexico Sunday night and the number of missing was estimated officially at fifteen.

According to the story told by two other survivors, who were with him after the fight, Captain Morey believed that he was mortally wounded and ordered them to leave him in the desert, which they did.

How Captain Morey managed to make his way to the American main column, a distance of over eighty miles, is unknown here, but it is inferred he was picked up by a detachment of the recruiting force sent out by General Pershing.

Mexican troops fired the first shot on the troopers of the Tenth United States Cavalry at Carrizal, but not until the American forces, fearing an ambush, had advanced in battle formation, according to a letter written on the day of the fight by Captain Morey, commanding Troop K of the Tenth the day of the fight, and forwarded to General Funston by General Pershing Sunday night.

Following is the text of Captain Morey's letter:

"Carrizal, Mex., June 21, 1916, 9:15 a. m.

"To Commanding Officer, Ojo Fierico—My troop reached Ojo Santo Domingo at 5:30 p. m., June 20. Met Troop C, under Captain Boyd. I came under Captain Boyd's command and marched my troops in rear for Carrizal at 4:15 a. m. Reached open field to southeast of town at 6:30 a. m.

"Captain Boyd sent in a note requesting permission to pass through the town. This was refused. Stated we could go to the north, but not east. Captain Boyd was going to Ahumada at this time.

"He was talking with Carranza commander. General Gomez sent a written message that Captain Boyd could bring his force into town and have a conference. Captain Boyd feared an ambush. He was under the impression that the Mexicans would run as soon as we fired.

"We formed for attack, his intention being to move up to the line of about 120 Mexicans on the edge of the town. We formed C troop on the left in line of skirmishers, one platoon of K troop on right of line and another K troop platoon on extreme right, echeloned a little to the rear.

"When we were within 300 yards the Mexicans opened fire and a strong one before we fired a shot; then we opened up. They did not run. To make a long account short, after about an hour's fire in which both troops had advanced, C troop to position of Mexican machine gun and K troop closing in slightly to the left, we were very busy on the right keeping off a flank attack. A group of Mexicans left town, went around our rear and led our horses left at a gallop.

"At about 9 o'clock one platoon of Troop K, which was on our right, fell back. The sergeant said he could not stay there. Both platoons fell back about 1000 yards to the west, and then, together with some men of Troop C, who were there, these men scattered.

"I was slightly wounded. Captain Boyd, a man told me, was killed. Nothing was seen of Lieutenant Adair after the fight started, so a man I saw stated.

"I am hiding in a hole 2000 yards from field and have one other wounded man and three men with me. (Signed) "MOREY, Captain."

HEARST ESTATE SENDS OUT A PLEA FOR HELP

Boston.—William M. Ferris, local manager at Laguna del Carmen, Mexico, of the P. A. Hearst estate, June 23 wired his principals in New York: "We are in great danger. Urgent that we receive help."

The message was forwarded from New York to representatives of other Mexican interests in Boston.

San Antonio, Tex.—The two troops of the Tenth Cavalry under Captain Charles T. Boyd were practically wiped out by the attack of Mexican forces under General Gomez at Carrizal June 21, according to indications given in fragmentary reports received by General Funston from General Pershing June 23.

General Pershing's message stated that seven survivors in all have reached the main column.

According to the stories of the survivors, as outlined in General Pershing's report, a mounted force of Mexicans made a charge from the flank at the conclusion of a parley between Captain Boyd and General Gomez at the same time that a machine gun opened fire from the front as General Gomez reached his lines.

Captain Boyd had ordered his men to dismount as the machine gun opened fire, and the combined effect of the Mexican charge, the machine gun fire and the rifle fire from the Mexican garrison at Carrizal, which had almost surrounded the little American force under cover of the parley sought by General Gomez to discuss whether Captain Boyd should be allowed to pass through the town, stampeded the horses. No details were made known to General Pershing as to whether the Mexican charge was checked.

With their mounts gone, caught without means of escaping, ringed about on three sides with the fire of an overwhelming force, the fate of the little detachment is believed by officers here to have been sealed. It is declared that only the most stupendous luck could have extricated Captain Boyd's men from the trap.

The reports from Mexican forces place the number of killed, including two officers, at from twelve to forty. It is reported seventeen were taken captive into Chihuahua City.

The accepted percentage of wounded to those killed in modern warfare would place the wounded at from thirty-five to forty, at the lowest estimate. The strength of the two troops is not known here, but it is estimated that they could not exceed 130 men, allowing for those sick and on detached service. With but seven survivors reported as arriving at the main column, the number of those accounted for at least speculatively is pitifully small.

The report from General Pershing stated that the stories of the survivors were confused, and do not conform in all details to the report made by the first arrivals from the battlefield. General Pershing reported that there was a scene of wild confusion when the Mexicans opened fire and their cavalry charged.

The stragglers apparently were cut off in an effort of Captain Boyd to extricate his men from the jaws of the trap which was closing on his command, or fled before the outcome of the battle could be learned.

General Pershing, according to his report, has received no word from the two battalions of the Eleventh Cavalry which he sent to rescue the remnants of Captain Boyd's expedition. He stated that he had taken no measures to support the squadrons of the Eleventh.

NAVAL RESERVE TO BE CALLED OUT IS REPORT

New York.—Assistant Secretary of Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt announced June 23 at a dinner here in celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the naval reserve of New York, that it is "within the bounds of possibility" that the naval militia of the United States will be called out as a result of the Mexico crisis. He coupled this statement with a declaration that 200,000 men are necessary for the navy.

"Every ship should be manned to the limit," he asserted, "and there should be an adequate reserve."

14 AEROPLANES FOR DUTY ON BORDER ARE RUSHED

Washington.—The War Department June 23 ordered fourteen high-powered aeroplanes in pursuance of its plan to establish an aerial patrol of the Mexican border. The machines, with all spare parts, will cost approximately $275,000. They are to be supplied by the Sturtevant Company of Boston, the Curtiss Company of Buffalo, the L. W. F. Company of Long Island City and the Martin Company of California.

The fourteen aeroplanes will be dispatched at once to the border.

U. S. MAKES CURT DEMAND ON MEXICO

Wilson's Note to Carranza Is Stern; Must Make Early Statement of Purposes

Washington.—A demand for the immediate release of the American troopers taken prisoners at Carrizal, coupled with a stern notification that the United States expects an early statement of the purposes of the Carranza Government, was telegraphed to Mexico City Sunday by Secretary Lansing.

The text of the note to the Mexican de facto government, transmitted to James Linn Rodgers, special representative of the American Government in Mexico City, says:

"Mr. Arredondo yesterday delivered to this Government the following communication:

"I am directed by my Government to inform your excellency, with reference to the Carrizal incident, that the Chief Executive, through the Mexican War Department, gave orders to General Jacinto B. Trevino not to permit American forces from General Pershing's column to advance further south, nor to move either east or west from the points where they are located and to oppose new incursions of American soldiers into Mexican territory.

"These orders were brought by General Trevino to the attention of General Pershing, who acknowledged the receipt of the communication relative thereto. On the 22d instant, as your excellency knows, an American force moved eastward quite far from its base, notwithstanding the above orders, and was engaged by Mexican troops at Carrizal, State of Chihuahua. As a result of the encounter, several men of both sides were killed and wounded and seven American soldiers were made prisoners.

"You are hereby instructed to hand to the Minister of Foreign Relations of the de facto government the following:

"The Government of the United States can put no other construction upon the communication handed to the Secretary of State of the United States on the 24th of June by Mr. Arredondo under instruction of your Government, than that it is intended as a formal avowal of deliberately hostile action against the forces of the United States now in Mexico and of the purpose to attack them without provocation whenever they move from their present position in pursuance of the objects for which they were sent there, notwithstanding the fact that those objects not only involve no unfriendly intention toward the Government and people of Mexico, but are, on the contrary, intended only to assist that Government in protecting itself and the territory and people of the United States against irresponsible and insurgent bands of rebel marauders.

"I am instructed, therefore, by my Government to demand the immediate release of the prisoners taken in the encounter at Carrizal, together with any property of the United States taken with them, and to inform you that the Government of the United States expects an early statement from your Government as to course of action it wishes the United States to understand it has determined upon, and that it also expects that this statement be made through the usual diplomatic channels and not through subordinate military commanders."

EUROPEAN WAR ZONE ITEMS

FRENCH.

Paris, June 22.—The official communication issued tonight reads:

"In the region to the south of Lagny a strong German reconnaissance attacked one of our advance posts after artillery preparations. Repulsed by our fire, the enemy dispersed, leaving several dead on the ground.

"On both banks of the Meuse, the bombardment with shells of heavy caliber continued throughout the day with extreme violence. On the left bank the enemy especially directed his fire against our positions on Hill 330 and on Le Mort Homme, and on our lines in the direction of Esnes and Chantonnay.

"At 6 o'clock in the evening an attack directed against our trenches between Hill 304 and the Bethincourt brook was completely repulsed, after very spirited fighting with grenades. "On the right bank a counter attack carried out by us in the afternoon enabled us to reoccupy the greater part of the elements where the enemy had gained a footing last night between Fumin wood and Chenois.

"The bombardment from 6 o'clock took on a character of unprecedented violence on the front to the north of the Thiaumont fortified works, the Vaux wood, Chapitre, and the sector of La Laufee (one of the detached military works of Verdun).

"In the Woerthe the artillery action has been intense in the region at the foot of the Meuse hills.

"Quite spirited cannonading has been carried on on the rest of the front, notably in Champagne, in the sector of Mont Tuet.

"Aviation.—In reprisal for the successive bombardments carried out by the Germans the last few days on the open towns of Bar-Le-Duc and Lunville, our aerial squadrons have executed several operations in enemy territory. On the night of June 21-22, eighteen shells were dropped on the town of Treves, where a great fire broke out. Today a flotilla of nine aeroplanes dropped forty shells on Karlsruhe (170 kilometers from Nancy).

"Another group of ten aeroplanes set out to bombard Mulheim (on the right bank of the Rhine). Fifty shells were dropped on the military establishments at that town.

"Pursued by a squadron of Fokkers on their return from Mulheim, our machines gave battle in the course of which a Fokker was brought down. One of our machines was obliged to return.

GENERAL FUNSTON TO ACT UNDER NEW BILL

San Antonio.—General Funston June 23 received from Washington orders for the organization in his territory of his quota of new units under the new army bill. He is ordered to organize these units at the places named:

Thirty-fourth Infantry at El Paso, Thirty-fifth Infantry at Douglas, Arizona; Thirty-sixth Infantry at Brownsville, Texas; Thirty-seventh Infantry at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio.

Sixteenth Cavalry and Seventeenth Cavalry to be organized in the department. General Funston said the first would be formed here and the second at El Paso.

First and Second Engineers, except two companies of the Second, to be organized in this department.

Company A, First Battalion Mounted Engineers, to be organized at Columbus.

In the process of organization of the new units both commissioned and non-commissioned officers will be drawn from the existing regiments. This will mean rapid promotion for officers with commissions and without, and many men in the ranks are certain to receive commissions as second lieutenants. All the present second lieutenants are to become first lieutenants and the entire graduating class of West Point will enter active service as first lieutenants.

WARSHIPS TAXED TO CARE FOR AMERICAN REFUGEES

Washington.—Official reports to the Navy and State Departments show that Americans in large numbers are fleeing for their lives out of Mexico. The capacity of warships is being taxed to handle men, women and children seeking asylum.

Seattle.—Lieutenant Ernest Austin of the Canadian Army was arrested in a hotel here June 23 by special agents of the Department of Justice on a charge of violating the United States neutrality laws by recruiting men here for the Canadian army.

GERMAN.

Berlin, June 22. The German official statement today says:

"Army group of General von Lin-singen: Russian attacks against the canal position southwest of Logischin and west of Kolki failed. Between Sokul and Lintewka, Russian positions taken by us were held against strong counter-attacks.

"Continuous efforts of the enemy to dispute our successes northwest of Lutsk were without result. On both sides of the Turia and further south over the general line from Svinoukchi to Grochow, the Russians were driven back.

"Bombs were dropped on the railroad at Men, on the Pripiet, south of Luniniec.

"Army group of General Count von Bothmer: Strong enemy attacks from the Halvorenka-Bobulintze line, north of Przewloka, were repulsed, with severe enemy losses.

"Western front: A weak attack by a British detachment near Frelighien, northeast of Armentieres, was repulsed. West of La Basse a German patrol detachment brought in some British prisoners.

"On the east bank of the Meuse, infantry fighting developed. We gained some advantages west of Fort Vaux.

"Both south of Polvre ridge and near Buss, a French aeroplane was brought down by our anti-aircraft guns. The occupants of the second machine were made prisoners."

"In the course of the day our pursuit aeroplanes likewise displayed activity. Sub-Lieutenant Nungesser brought down his eighth aeroplane, which came to earth at Lamorville in our wire entanglements.

"To the south of Libons, a German aeroplane simultaneously subjected to machine gunfire by Sergeant Chainat and Sub-Lieutenant Guynemer, crashed to the ground. Sergeant Chainat had brought down up to that day four aeroplanes; Sub-Lieutenant Guynemer nine.

"Finally, in the region of Einville, north of Lunville, an enemy aeroplane was brought down by the fire of our artillery.

"The two German aeroplanes which fell yesterday morning to the northeast of St. Mihiel and near Fort Genicourt, were brought down by Sub-Lieutenant Chaput, who had accounted for six enemy machines up to that time."

10 AMERICAN REFUGEES KIDNAPPED BY MEXICANS

Laredo, Tex.—Ten Americans were taken from a train on the National Railway by a detachment of Mexican soldiers on Wednesday, June 21, according to passengers arriving here, June 23. That was the last seen or heard of them.

The train, crowded with refugees, left Mexico City on Tuesday, June 20. It had proceeded to Gonzales station, according to Mother Dolores, superioress of a convent at the Mexican capital, who led a party of seven nuns to the border, when it was boarded by a detachment of troopers.

There were eight or ten Americans on the train and they were at once set upon by the soldados and after being jerked about and several knocked down, were forced at the end of the ride to accompany the military band.

Mother Dolores added that feeling against Americans is at fever heat in Mexico City. She described the wild anti-American demonstration of last Friday when, inflamed by speeches by Carranza and his War Minister, Obregon, the capital mobs rioted through the streets crying for "death to the gringos!"

Carranza, she said, questioned the honesty of purpose of the United States in his speech, while Obregon shouted epithets against Americans.

Seeing several nuns in the crowd, he shouted:

"If we do not win against the gringos we will massacre the priests and nuns in Mexico City."

All Americans have now left Monterey, the last nine reaching here today on the train from Mexico City.

PROSPECT OF U. S.-MEXICO WAR DISTRESSES POPE

Rome.—Pope Benedict is much distressed over seeing virtually the whole world fighting, according to information coming from the Vatican after the news of the combat between Americans and Mexicans had been received. The Pontiff entertains hope that hostilities between the United States and Mexico will be averted through the intervention of Spain, which is supported by the Holy See.

CLING TO BLEAK LAND

NATIVES OF SHETLAND ISLAND LOVE THEIR HOME.

Have Hard Work to Coax a Living From Almost Barren Rock, But Leave It Unwillingly—Spot Has Figured in History.

Fair island, 25 miles south of all the other Shetlands, has had a strange enough pageantry passing over its rocky surface. For not only was it the home of the Picts, and then of the Norse; and for the Norse, the signal beacon to give warning of the coming of the hostile sails; besides that, it supplied a chapter in the romance of the Spanish Armada.

For here was wrecked the ship of Don Gomez de Medina, and that noble and his men were for a time most generously entertained by the islanders, writes Maude Radford Warren in Harper's Magazine. But time passed, the Spaniards stayed, the meal and the mutton diminished. Then the islanders, wrapped in by the wild storms, unable to get to any other island, fearful of famine, hid their food. The forced guests grew weak, many died of starvation, and some, it is said, were pushed over the tall cliffs into the sea.

At last one Andrew Umphrey took the Spaniards away in a ship, and since that day the name of Umphrey has been powerful in the Shetlands.

The Fair island people show plain traces of Spanish blood, but they resent the suspicion of it, saying that the Spaniards were isolated when on the island.

It is hard to conceive how isolation could well be possible on an island two miles square; besides, the Fair island people do not deny that the strange patterns and the lichen dyeing of the stockings and caps, and shawls their women knit were taught them by the Spaniards, and indeed the same sort of handicraft is found to this day in country places of Spain.

The Fair islanders were great smugglers in the old days, and they are still good bargainers. They are very intelligent, seeming to know instinctively how to read; and not so very long ago they would follow the mail steamers in their light canoe-shaped boats, which none but themselves can manage, begging for newspapers and books.

One of their terrors is of infectious disease; another is of the dog-tax man, against whom coming they are said to hang and drown their dogs; another is of emigration, for they love Fair Isle. Yet emigrate they must; about forty-five years ago a hundred of them went, unable longer to coax a living from their bare rock. Their greatest joy is the occasional visits of the minister, more frequently now than in the old days, when he arrived but once in about two years to marry and christen. He preaches every day of his stay, and they prolong his visit on every possible pretext, when all else fails, the solemn prophecy of a storm.

Vicious Wolves in France.

To talk of wolves in France seems absurd—a country that has been settled for 2,000 years, and has a population of 160 to the square mile. Yet in several of the departments (or counties, as we would call them)—notably in the Department of Yonne, in the heart of France—the wolves are extremely bold and enterprising. Two troopers, one day last spring, who were riding in company, came suddenly upon a huge wolf that, without the slightest hesitation, sprang upon the nearest horse. The soldiers dismounted and drew their sabres, expecting the wolf to turn tail, but he showed fight and but for the arrival of a farmer with a gun, who shot the animal, the republic might have lost two of her army. The combat would be thought nothing of in Russia, or even in this country, but in France—well, it shows how hard it is for man to exterminate the wild animals that infest the earth.

Beef in Panama.

The beef consumed in the Panama Canal Zone is to be from cattle slaughtered there, instead of dressed beef from the United States. It has been ascertained that a saving of from 10 to 20 per cent can thus be made. The Canal supply department has already begun killing local cattle, in order to test the quality of meat obtainable, and it has further arranged to purchase cattle in other parts of Central America, and even South America, and bring them to the isthmus for final fattening and slaughter.

A cattle buyer, assigned to visit the neighboring countries, will have his purchases brought to the Canal and inspected by a veterinary surgeon to prevent the introduction of diseased cattle. The latter official is already on his way to the isthmus.

Auto Makes Clover Fly.

Coming upon a farmer mowing clover, L. J. Russell, principal of the Towanda schools, heard the man complain how near fagged out were his horses. Professor Russell told him to unhitch and he would finish the mowing with his automobile.

Fastening the mower to the professor's automobile, the machine was sent speeding around and the big field was mowed within ten minutes. The mower was run so fast that the clover was thrown in the air in clouds.—Towanda (Pa.) Dispatch to Philadelphia Record.

Hello, Willie!

A wounded English officer tells of an interesting little incident which occurred on the battlefield after the great advance.

"I had picked my way among heaps of German corpses, when I was arrested by a voice which seemed rather familiar. Looking a few yards to my right, I observed one of our Red Cross doctors dressing the wounds of a German officer.

"'Bad case, doctor,' I remarked casually, and immediately his patient shouted, 'Hello, Willie.' 'I know that voice,' I said to myself. I approached the wounded man, and to my astonishment I found he was a German cousin of mine. We had a little chat about old times, in the days when we were friends and there was no war.

"A few days after my arrival in London I received a letter from him."

LAND OF CURIOUS CUSTOMS

DRESSED FOR NATIONAL DANCE

More than one sailor whose ship has touched at Suva, the principal port of Fiji, has had a very peculiar experience. On going ashore he has quite naturally indulged in the beverage of the islands, a drink called yangona and sometimes kava. When he has endeavored to return to his ship a little later, he has found to his immeasurable surprise that he has no command of his legs. His brain is as clear as it ever was. He is in a mental condition to talk rationally on any subject, but he cannot walk. That is the way yangona acts. It is said that one Englishman was found after nightfall with his head buried in a thick shrub by the side of the road and lustily calling for help. He was perfectly conscious of his unpleasant predicament but was unable to move. Immense quantities of yangona are consumed by the natives. Few white people like the taste at first, but it is considered refreshing on a hot day and it is so pleasantly stimulating that many Europeans in Fiji drink it habitually.

Yangona is brewed on all festive occasions as a matter of course. A great wooden bowl with four legs is used for the purpose. Usually it is beautifully polished from long usage and has a purple bloom like that of the grape.
The yangona root, which comes from a plant growing freely all over the islands, is brought in when all is ready and publicly scraped and cleaned.

Then it is cut into small pieces and grated into the great bowl. In olden times it was customary to have the root prepared by chewing rather than by grating. Several young men or pretty girls were given pieces of the root and hidden chew them until large lumps of white fiber had been obtained.
The operation required some time and the chewers frequently washed out their mouths with fresh water. It is contended even yet by many people in Fiji that yangona prepared by the chewing process is much preferable to that obtained by grating, so far as the flavor is concerned.

The second process is adding the water, which is poured over the roots in the bowl, after which it is wrung out through a piece of hyacinth fiber, which is like fine netting. The yellowish fluid which is thus produced tastes like rhubarb and magnesia.

In spite of the fact that they follow
the practices of the Christian church, some being Methodists, some Adventists and some Catholics, many of the old-time rites are still preserved. Of these the most interesting as well as the most remarkable is that found on the island of Beqa, one of the Fiji group, where the natives walk barefooted on stones so hot that they glow.

Although the statement was long questioned, the fact has been established that there is no jugglery about this rite, although nobody can explain why the feet of the firewalkers, as they are called, are not terribly burned.

Firewalking is a common way of allotting apples or tasks, when the hands are held behind, and the choice is made by calling either the right or left. By an arithmetical trick you can do away with chance and secure the object you desire.

Tell your friend to call the desired object three and the other one four.
Then tell him to multiply the number of the object held concealed in the right hand by three and the one in the left hand by two. When he has secured this result, ask him to add the two results together and tell you whether the sum is an odd or an even number. If it is an odd one, the desired object will be in the right hand, if an even number, in the left hand—

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MR. LIZARD'S BIRTHDAY PARTY.

"It was Mr. Lizard's birthday, and he was to have a birthday party. They had all been invited. All the other lizards, the newts and the snails.
And, perhaps, the very best of all, the fairies had been invited, for they are great friends of Mr. Lizard and his family.

"They had invited the snails to come at ten o'clock in the morning, and all the rest of the guests to come at three in the afternoon. For, you see, they knew that the snails would take so long to get ready and crawl to the party that they would invite them ahead of time. They told the other guests to explain to the snails the little trick they were playing on them.

"So, just at three every single guest arrived.

"What are we on time?" asked one of the snails.

"No," laughed Mr. Lizard, "you're just five hours late. But you see we really wanted you and we knew that was the only way to get you here by three o'clock."

"The snails all laughed, for after all, though it was certainly not much of a compliment to their power of being on time, still it showed the lizards wanted them.

"It was a splendid party. They had races and dances and games. But best of all was the supper. It consisted of moss-green ice cream, silver spring water, evergreen salad, and buttercup soup. They ate it all backwards for the lizards are not at all fussy about matters you know—so they started with ice cream and ended off with soup!

"But best of all they had a cake, and oh, wasn't Mr. Lizard happy! It was brought in on a chariot which was drawn by four little lizards and it was made of all the delicacies of the woods and had four sprigs of vine hung from little sticks which meant that Mr. Lizard was four months old!

"They began birthday parties when they are very young in the Lizard world, and you would have laughed had you heard Mr. Lizard say to the little lizards who were still younger:
"Hurry up and invite the raindrops to come for the birthday cake for they keep me young and I am growing old so quickly!"

"Down fell the little raindrops then and as they dropped very softly the lizards all began to crawl about in twos, threes and fours, which is their way of dancing. Suddenly they missed the little fairies.

"But just at that moment back came the fairies in a beautiful airboat, just exactly like a rainbow, and through the raindrops Mr. Sun peeped in.

"Then the little lizards were the happiest creatures you can imagine, and as for Mr. Lizard, who was celebrating his birthday, his joy was beyond all description. He even made a speech to all his guests and to his 'surprise guests' the rainbow and Mr.
Sun.

"Everyone was very happy and the snails were so glad they had been told to come ahead of time so they wouldn't miss anything!"

ARE YOU PAST 30 YEARS? TAKE HOT WATER AND "ANURIC"

People are realizing more and more every day that the kidneys, just as do the bowels, need to be flushed occasionally. The kidneys are an elimina-tive organ and are constantly working, separating the poisons from the blood.
Under this continual and perpetual action they are apt to congest, and then trouble starts. Uric acid backs up into the system, causing rheumatism, neuralgia, dropsy and many other serious disturbances. Doctor Pierce of Buffalo, New York, advocates that every one should drink plenty of pure water between meals. Every day should exercise in the outdoor air sufficiently to sweat profusely, and from time to time stimulate the kidney action by means of "Anuric." This preparation has been thoroughly tried out at his Sanitarium, in the same way as his "Fascite Prescription" for weak women and

"Golden Medical Discovery," the standard herbal system tonic, (both of which now come in tablet form for convenience of carrying and taking).
"Anuric" is now being introduced here, and many local people are daily testifying to its perfectness.

When you have backache, dizzy spells or rheumatism, heed nature's warning.
It means that you are a victim to uric acid poisoning. Then ask your druggist for "Anuric" and you will very soon become one of hundreds who daily give their thankful indorsement to this powerful enemy to uric acid.

If you have that tired, worn-out feeling, backache, rheumatism, neuralgia, or if your sleep is disturbed by too frequent urination, get Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets at drug store, full treatment

JUST BEFORE THE PLUNGE

Frank Confession of One Regarded as About to Be Made Happy for Life.

Following is an extract from a bridegroom's frank confession:
"Here I was on the verge of realizing the thing that I had wanted most for over a year; and suddenly I found, to my utter amazement, that I didn't want it.

"I was disgusted with myself, I betrayed myself roundly for a cad and a coward, but I could not change the feeling. With the drowning man's panoramic eye I saw all the choicest moments of my bachelor days. I remembered the gay, irresponsible times that my best man and I had had together.
That was a pretty good life, after all, that we had led. Our old bachelor apartment was a good old place, I thought to myself.

And I was leaving it! I had always heard that folks with curly hair were nervy, and had dismissed the saying as idle, superstitious chatter. Now it flashed upon me that my hair is curly; I knew in a terrible instant that the saying was true. My hair was curly! I was fickle; here was the first evidence of it. I was on the edge of my marriage, and I didn't want to marry.

"Suppose the cursed weakness, my fickleness, were to follow me through life. Suppose I were to find that my love was not strong enough. I was twenty-five; we would probably be married 40 years! Forty years—the thought staggered me.

"People had said that they never knew a man who prized his independence more than I. It came over me now of a sudden that in 12 hours I would no longer have any independence. Tomorrow morning and tomorrow and tomorrow, for 40 years, I would have to make every decision not on the basis of what I wanted to do, but of what we wanted to do.

"For 40 years, I would never be able to go anywhere, do anything, meet anybody, without a girl on my arm.
The sweetest, loveliest girl in the world, to be sure—but still a girl. Tomorrow I would be married, and the day after tomorrow, and the world without end—"Woman's Home Com-

City Bird Clubs.

It has taken more than twenty years of steady work by the National Audubon society to demonstrate the economic value of birds to agriculture, and the result is in our state laws protecting song birds and the federal laws protecting the migratory game birds. Incidentally, bird sanctuaries have been established in several places, remarks the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Henry Ford's near Detroit, and Avery Island on the Gulf coast, given by Mrs. Russell Sage, are noteworthy. Several state preserves have been set aside for the game protection. The bird club movement strives to save the birds, with objects both

Motor oil made from asphalt-base crude gives best lubrication with least carbon. Such is the testimony of motorists and experts alike. As Lieut. Bryan, U.S.N., puts it: "Oils made from the asphalt-base crudes have shown themselves to be much better adapted to motor cylinders, as far as their carbon-forming proclivities are concerned, than are paraffine-base Pennsylvania oils." Zerolene is scientifically refined from selected California crude— asphalt-base—not only made from the right crude but made right. Dealers everywhere and at service stations and agencies of the Standard Oil Company.

"The Two Republics."

Several months ago an address, entitled "The Two Republics," was delivered by Honorable Charles Sumner Young before the Anahuac Club of Los Angeles. The address is a review of the history of the relations between the two republics from the time Mexico first declared her independence from her Fatherland. The address has already received favorable criticism from numerous editors and other literary critics throughout the United States.

The address has been published in book form by the Fred S. Lang company, 214 South Hill Street, Los Angeles California. The book is exquisitely gotten up, containing numerous illustrations. The price is fifty cents.

Island of Lemnos.
The island of Lemnos, in the Aegean sea, has a long and varied history, but is now noted chiefly for its medicinal earth. This earth, which has been highly esteemed in the east since classic times as a cure for numerous ailments and an antidote to poison, comes from a dry mound near the village of Kotschinos and can only be dug before day-break on one day in the year—August—when Greek priest and Turkish hodja both attend and go through an elaborate ceremonial.

A Tale of Heroism.
"I went for a bath yesterday," said an Auvergnat. "I had been in the water some time when I suddenly perceived an enormous shark advancing toward me with its jaws open. What was I to do? When he was a yard off I dived, took out my pocketknife and ripped up the monster."
"What! Then you are in the habit of bathing with your clothes on?" said one of the listeners.—From the French.

His Father (with a grudge to satisfy)—My own boy! Marry her and render that old skinflint penniless! —London Standard.

Republican Policies.

These are policies successfully administered by the Republican party with resultant pride in American citizenship, prosperity in American business, and progress in American Government:
Maintenance of National dignity.
Protection of American industries.
Efficiency in Government service.
Economy in National expenditures.

Many letters of inquiry are received daily asking for copies of "The Two Republics," by Charles Sumner Young. Mr. Young was the former proprietor of this paper and also a classmate of Charles Warren Fairbanks, regular republican nominee for the vice-presidency of the United States.

The republican party this morning presents a solid and united front for the first time in years.—Martinez Standard, June 27.

To the Editor of The Terminal:
More good advice—it is said that in all well regulated poker games money talks—that subterfuges and "jawbone" don't go. The business man should also insist on "money on the counter—safety first." Then the bunk artist and "shoe-stringer" will pass up Richmond. There is too much credit business in Richmond. Business men who work hard and struggle to make ends meet, and boost their cities into prominence, should not be the "fall guys" for "seldom pay" artists who inhabit the pay roll towns. Industrial Comment

This involved no loss to labor or capital and shows that strikes in general are foolish, wasteful and destructive to both sides.

This proves the truth of the statement of the great labor leader, Herman Liebknecht, that "a general strike is general folly."

No strike wins unless it has the approval of the public, and its cause must be justifiable and worthy of popular support.

Obstinacy, violence and hate are not good weapons for labor, and obstinacy, brutality and scorn are poor instruments for capital.
